Our Teachers

To you, our faithful teachers,
Whose time has been our own,
A tribute we would offer,
For worth that's widely known.

Your high ideals and friendship,
Your book lore, and your smile,
Your kind advice and interest
Makes gratitude worth while.

So may your noble actions,
Enrich our lives for aye,
Inspiring us to service,
As you have served each day.

This, then, shall be our tribute,
As on through life we go,
The ideals you have taught us,
We'll teach where'er we go.

A. B. COURSE IN EDUCATION

After having successfully taught in the rural schools of York County for more than a decade and having been acknowledged as the county's most successful teacher, this enterprising young man came to Elizabethtown to complete the A. B. Course in Education. In order to learn the latest and most approved methods in teaching he attended a summer session at Columbia University last summer. In addition to his duties as a student and teacher he assists in extension courses and Bible Institute work. The future will probably know and honor him as a devoted, unpretentious community worker and educator.

Minister, College Instructor, Bible Institute Instructor, Critic Homeric Literary Society.

B. S. COURSE IN COMMERCE AND FINANCE

Here is our business manager from different points of view. First, he is the reliable business manager of the Etonian; second, he is finishing the B. S. Course in Commerce and Finance; and last, but not least, he was a successful salesman for The S. A. Mullikin Company last summer. He learned the art of convincing mothers that they need sex education in their homes.

Joe is a hard worker, always carrying a heavy program, yet always knowing his lessons. He is also president of the Y. M. W. A. What a versatile chap! We are proud to have him in the class of 1923.

We wish him success in the business world.

"DAVIE"

DAVID MARKEY

Centerport, Pa.

A. B. COURSE IN EDUCATION

This optimist hails from Berks County where his better half and two little girls are eagerly awaiting the return of their "daddy". "Davie" has allround ability, for he can sing, debate, and preach. He is a star tennis player, and one of the best rooters on the Hill when there is a baseball or basket-ball game in progress. The side for which he roots is sure to win.

His perpetual smile wins him many friends.

His highest ambition is to serve. He may some day land on the foreign mission field.

Assistant Editor Etonian, Vice-President Homerician Society, Treasurer Athletic Assariation, College Times Staff.

"MAUPIN"

NETTIE MAUPIN

Charlottesville, Va.

A. B. COURSE IN EDUCATION

Miss Maupin is the only member of our class from the beautiful hills of Virginia. She has been a student in the University of Virginia and a teacher at Hebron Seminary. For the last two years she has taught in our Academy. On College Hill she has been noted for her persistence in her work. She makes use of every minute, even while waiting for the bell to ring for meals.

Miss Maupin leads a self-sacrificial life. She says she would rather help somebody else with their problems than to try to solve her own. Her chief aim in life is to serve whenever possible, at any time, in any place, at any cost. We all know that her life will be a blessing,— whatever field of service she may occupy.

Teacher; Volunteer Band.

LESTER N. MYER

Elizabethtown, Pa.

A. B. COURSE IN EDUCATION

After having served successfully as assistant principal of the Brownstown High School and as principal of the high school at Ephrata, this young man returned to us last September to complete the A. B. Course in Education. His ability as a leader and organizer was early recognized by his fellow seniors who chose him as their president. Although he is engaged in more activities than any other student here, yet he finds time for various types of recreation. He is one of the few of our number who have ventured into matrimony. The future will know him as a successful educator and a worthy citizen.

President Senior Class, Editor-in-Chief of "Our College Times," Physical Director, Teacher, Editor Etouian.

"CHET"

CHESTER HUMMER ROYER

Elizabethtown, Pa.

A. B. COURSE IN EDUCATION

A more industrious man than "Chet" is hard to find. He is one of the few of our number who has settled down to married life and enjoys the life of a father. He taught public school for two years and graduated in the Pedagogical Course in 1921. During the summer of 1922 he was a member of the salesmanship group.

Not only is Mr. Royer very industrious intellectually but he is very active religiously. He is an able minister, and a very fine chorister, noted for his melodious tenor voice. He will ever be a credit to our Alma Mater. In whatever field he may enter, he takes with him the best wishes of the class of 1923.

Minister, Vice-President Volunteer Band, College Quartet, Vice-President Homerian Literary Society, Chorus, Glee Club.

"SOLLY"

CLARENCE B. SOLLENBERGER

Carlisle, Pa.

A. B. COURSE IN EDUCATION

"Solly" usually looks sober but is quite humorous and witty. He possesses quite an amount of executive ability and served as an able class president during our junior year. His interest is great in religious affairs as he is an ardent student and minister of the Word. When he plans to do something he grits his teeth and plunges into it. In baseball he is invincible as a pitcher. He says it is difficult for him to study as his mind is continually wandering homeward. Every other day letters go and come from Carlisle. We wonder why he is especially fond of reading Burns' poem, "My Nannie, O." We see for him a bright future and expect that he will be married soon.

President Homerian Literary Society, Vice-President Senior Class, Glee Club, Chorus, Minister of Gospel, Senior Baseball and Basket-ball Teams.

"LILY"

MRS. LILIAN F. WILLOUGHBY

Elizabethtown, Pa.

A. B. COURSE IN EDUCATION

This experienced lady is one of the married members of our class. She is a daughter of the first acting president of Elizabethtown College and has inherited some valuable traits which show themselves in her ability in oratory and poetic expression. Her environment from childhood has been conducive to education. She taught in the public schools at Hebron Seminary, and at Elizabethtown College. She has much to her credit but her highest honor is being the mother of two chubby intelligent youngsters, Evelyn and Billy. After a ten-year vacation from our college she has come back to take her A. B. and to be our class poet.

Class Poet, Volunteer Band.

"BRIGHT-BILL"

ALVIN BRIGHTBILL

PRE-MEDICAL COURSE

This is our Good boy of the class. He is good for only one Good. That Good no one can define but he himself. He is not only Good, but he is also bright as his name implies. What a blending of fine qualities!

For half the year he fed Professor Gingrich's stock. Early in the morning you could find him riding his two-wheeled vehicle toward Elizabethtown College, and late in the evening he would return. Many nights however the stock had to go without supper because Alvin had a chemistry experiment which he had to finish.

He expects to continue his preparation at Bethany Bible School next year, but not alone.

His greatest ambition is to preach the gospel to the Africans by healing their physical bodies as a medical missionary.

We wish him God speed.

Assistant Business Manager "Etonian", Volunteer Band, Homeric Quartet, Minister.

PEDAGOGICAL COURSE

This energetic, enthusiastic, industrious blue-eyed lassie appeared on the Hill a few years ago. She is noted for her ability in debating. She can convince her opponents against their own will.

She has taught school and has now improved herself in this profession.

We as a class wish her great success as a teacher.

She expects to give her life to missionary work. Volunteer Band, Etonian Staff, "Our College Times" Staff, Vice-President Y. W. W. A.

"ILDA"

ILDA BITTINGER

Eglen, W. Va.

PEDAGOGICAL COURSE

Ilda is one of those sedate girls who acts as a balance wheel for the rest of us. She has had several years experience in the schoolroom, and is now completing the pedagogical course, after which she again expects to enter her former profession.

She is good-natured, staunch, and true to her friends, ready to do anything asked of her at any time. She is an earnest, sincere worker in the Volunteer Band, and was kept quite busy in deputation work last summer. It is said that she always enjoys this kind of work, but last summer she enjoyed it exceptionally well because of the inspiration she received from one of her very close fellow-workers. This winter she is kept busy reading letters from Shamokin.

She has a great ambition to serve her Christ on the foreign mission field. We hope her desires may be realized.

Missionary Volunteer, Etonian Staff, Chorus.

"HEEFNER"

ANNA MARGARET HEEFNER

Waynesboro, Pa.

PEDAGOGICAL COURSE

Anna is from the beautiful Cumberland Valley. She loves her country home and her parents can well be proud of her.

Those who know her best love her most. Through her beautiful character and winning personality she is one of our most energetic, industrious, and active girls. When Anna is asked to do a piece of work you can depend on it to be done.

Anna has high ideals which she hopes to attain. We expect to see her in a cozy home in some needy field, working for the upbuilding of humanity.

Secretary Homerian Literary Society, Senior Basket-ball Team.

MABEL REBECCA KUHN

Greencastle, Pa.

PEDAGOGICAL COURSE

"It's the song ye sing
And the smile ye wear,
That's making the sun
Shine everywhere."

Our smiling and golden-haired Mabel found her way from the Cumberland Valley to E. C. in the fall of 1921. She is a modest, bashful girl who received first honor in her high school class, and has proved to be a brilliant student on College Hill. She squanders no time but does with energy whatever opportunity presents. The sweetness of her soprano was shown, for the first time, to many on the evening of the open forum debate. The "Weaver" seems to be slowly enclosing her, thread by thread. To her future the wisest magician can find no clue.

Secretary Homeric Literary Society, Senior Basket-ball Team, Chorus, Glee Club, Etonian Staff.

"BERTHA"

BERTHA WITMER LANDIS

Bainbridge, Pa.

PEDAGOGICAL COURSE

Bertha is one of those quiet, studious girls who talk little, but think and do very much. After attending Bainbridge High School she came to Elizabethtown College for a few years. She then taught public school four years. In the fall of 1923 she came back to complete the Pedagogical Course.

Through her experience in teaching, Bertha has found her school work very interesting and fascinating, and she desires to continue that work. Success is assured to her in her chosen profession.

"LEISTER"

EDITH ESTHER LEISTER

Cocolamus, Pa.

PEDAGOGICAL COURSE

Esther is one of our quiet unassuming girls. Only a few of the girls know her intimately. She has the honor of weighing more than any of the girls in our class. There is no need for worry, however, because it takes a big girl to become a woman. Her life is sweet and beautiful. She believes in doing the little things that help to make others happy.

We expect to see Esther some day in some foreign country with the little heathen about her coaxing for a story.

May the best of success be hers.

Recording Secretary Volunteer Band, Senior Basket-ball Team, Chorus.

"DAN"

DANIEL EVERETT MYERS

Dallastown, Pa.

PEDAGOGICAL COURSE

An attractive personality intensified by an ever-present joviality; a leader of rare ability and unlimited attainments: "Salesmanship," Dan says, "is good training for all of us."

A star player in basket-ball and tennis. His field goals in basket-ball make any boy envious. His sharp cuts in tennis are hard to beat. His abilities are not limited to athletics alone. He is very much interested in the religious work of the Volunteer Band. We as a class are expecting to see him as a pastor in one of our churches before many years.

"RUBBY"

RUBY KATHRYN OELLIG

Greencastle, Pa.

PEDAGOGICAL COURSE

"Rubby" is a sweet, jolly girl with auburn hair and "hazel eyes with specks of green." A sparkle of her eye reveals the fact that she would like to play a trick on some one. She sometimes excites the girls on the hall by pitching her deep alto voice so low that they mistake it for a man's voice. Her "freckles" should not worry her for she has friends, among both sexes, even more numerous. Her favorite sport is eating pickles. In basket-ball she is swift and just the guard we need.

In the class room she shows her keenness of intellect. In years to come we expect her to meet with success as a sympathetic but firm teacher of primary children.

Student Council, Volunteer Band, Chorus, Glee Club, Senior Basket-ball Team.

"REAMY"

MIRIAM EVA REAM

Palmyra, Pa.

PEDAGOGICAL COURSE

Miriam after having completed her high school course at Palmyra is this year completing her professional training for teaching. She is a kind-hearted girl who will lend a helping hand to the asking. Her interest lies in the driver of a certain Studebaker. In the class room her motto is, "Children should be seen and not heard," but while on the hall peals of laughter burst forth from her and are often a disturbance to the library. She delights in discussing members of the opposite sex. One of her expressions is "For cat's sake." She expects to teach, but we will not be greatly surprised if she should serve as a house-wife before so very many years roll by.

MELVIN FREDERICK SHISLER

Vernfield, Pa.

PEDAGOGICAL COURSE

This young man hails from Montgomery County where he has been successful as a teacher in the rural schools and as principal of a grammar school. After having attended a spring normal session at Perkiomen Seminary, and a summer session at West Chester he came to Elizabethtown College to complete his professional training. Tennis and baseball are his favorite sports, and they afford him a great deal of pleasure and recreation. One of his chief delights is autoing. We will hear from him in the future.

Photographer of Etouian, Superintendent of Stevens Hill Sunday School, Chaplain Homerician Literary Society, Student Council, Senior Baseball Team.

"STEFF"

ELLA STEFFY

Elizabethtown, Pa.

PEDAGOGICAL COURSE

Ella is an energetic, industrious member of the day student group. She came here in the fall of 1921, and liked the place so well that she persuaded her parents to make their abode in Elizabethtown. She is one of those notable pedagogues who will be doing great service in molding the characters of the young lives, that will come under her care and influence.

She has great ability in basket-ball and has proved it time and again. She plays center and handles that position to perfection. Furthermore she is an all around, athletic young lassie and can entertain a young gentleman at tennis as well as any other lassie.

"CHARLIE"

CHARLES CASSEL YOUNG

Vernfield, Pa.

PEDAGOGICAL COURSE

Charlie is the only member of our class who will never be old. He is a quiet, studious lad and is always found at his post of duty. Charlie came to college after he had completed the public school course in Montgomery County. He was here only one year until he started to teach. Finding that he could not do his best work with his limited education, he decided to finish his Pedagogical Course and equip himself for future service. His loyalty and his thoughtfulness of others have caused many of his fellows to trust and admire him.

Senior Baseball Team, Volunteer Band, Treasurer Y. W. W. A.

"KATIE"

KATHRYN ESHELMAN ZUG

Mastersonville, Pa.

PEDAGOGICAL COURSE

"A heart that is glad when your heart is gay,
and true in the time of cares;

That halves the trials of a fretful day, and doubles the joys that it shares."

This young lady sheds a radiating influence upon the hearts and lives of others wherever she goes. Her high ideals are exemplified in her everyday life. Kathryn has been a success in public school as well as in Sunday School work. She has transferred some of that skill into the activities of the Y. W. W. A. of which she is president.

Kathryn has not fully decided what her life's work shall be, but whatever she undertakes we wish her unalloyed happiness and the utmost success.

Junior Class History

The Junior Class held its first meeting, September 20, 1922. On November 2 permanent officers were elected and the class became permanently organized and recognized as the Junior Class of 1923. The class found a very able president in Daniel I. Harshman, a junior in the Bachelor of Science Course. This enterprising student undertook the establishment and management of a home on January 1, 1923, soon after undertaking the responsibility of guiding the affairs of the class. Mr. Harshman has undertaken two great responsibilities, but he undoubtedly will be successful as he has a very able assistant in Mrs. Harshman, formerly Miss Bonebrake, teacher of shorthand and typewriting at Elizabethtown College.

The vice-president, Mr. Sheldon Madeira, a junior in the Bachelor of Arts Course, is very highly qualified for his position, but he has not the same quality of perfection that the President of the class possesses. Dr. Hillis said: "No man is complete until he is married." However, Mr. Madeira makes the best of his handicap, and no doubt receives much inspiration and encouragement in his work from a senior friend with whom he is seen quite frequently. This is Mr. Madeira's first year at Elizabethtown College, but he has already proved to us that he is a remarkable student, and has become quite popular on the Hill. We predict that his professional career will be such that his integrity and uprightness of character will bring honor and glory to his Alma Mater.

The class has secured for its secretary a young lady of sterling quality, Miss Ada G. Young, who because of her previous experience in keeping a teacher's record in the public schools, is very able to perform her new duties. Ada is not a stranger on the Hill. She spent several years here previously and has returned to complete the Bachelor of Arts Course. The Young Women's Welfare Association was not slow in recognizing her ability, for soon after her return last fall they elected her as a member of the Student Council. She has those qualities of initiative and "stick-to-it-iveness" which will go far toward making her life a success in active Christian service.

As treasurer and athletic director, the class elected Elmer Eshleman, a junior in the Bachelor of Science Course, and a young man of great business and executive ability. "Esh" is highly qualified for both offices, but it is not likely that his business ability will be very seriously tested in the capacity of class treasurer, unless the Junior Class of 1923 is as exceptional in the matter of funds as it is in several other matters. However, "Esh" shines in athletics and is a "star" director as is being proved by the success of the various athletic organizations of the class. The Junior Baseball Team won every game in the fall, and this winter the Men's Basket-ball Team is very successful. The Girls' Basket-ball Team has not had much of a try-out yet, but in the first game of the season they defeated the senior girls by a score of 23-16. "Esh" is very active in his work, and at present the class is planning to enter the tennis tournament in the spring.

The Junior Class of 1923 promises to be one of the most famous in the history of Elizabethtown College. It is composed of students of remarkable talent and strength of character, and its officials can scarcely be surpassed. The class is very fortunate in having for its adviser, Professor I. S. Hoffer, whose keen intellect can no doubt solve class problems as readily as mathematical and philosophical problems. We are proud of our Junior Class, and feel that they will be remembered at Elizabethtown College long after they have left their Alma Mater and are filling responsible positions in life.

Long live the class of 1924!

Juniors

So many books you've studied,
So much you've learned and read;
Beware, O worthy Juniors,
Of swelling in the head.

So many would be leaders,
So many must be led;
Beware, O worthy Juniors,
Your spirit will be dead.

Seek loyalty, not honor,
For you, our hearts have bled;
Beware, O worthy Juniors,
Your honors soon are fled.

A word of warning, hear us,
O Class, who'll wear our shoes;
Beware, O worthy Juniors,
Perhaps success you'll lose.

If you our footsteps follow,
Success you will attain;
Beware, O worthy Juniors,
And work with might and main.

Sophomore Class History

Sophomore!!! What idea does this word convey? Webster says it is derived from two Greek words "sophisticus" and "moris." The first, meaning a fallacious reasoner; the second, conveying the idea of a foolish or inflated feeling. The term "Soph-mor" was first used at Cambridge, England, as the next distinctive appellation to Freshman. The younger "Sophs" at Cambridge appear formerly to have received the adjunct "mor" to their names as one given them in sport, for the supposed exhibition of inflated feeling in entering on their new honors. The term thus applied, seems to have passed from Cambridge, England, to Cambridge in America at a very early period. Thus we see the word Sophomore may be defined as a fallacious reasoner with an inflated feeling.

On January ninth, nineteen hundred twenty-three, the first Sophomore Class of the college was organized. Although few in number they make up for it in intelligence, also in democracy (since several of them are strong adherents of the Democratic Party). They are especially to be commended for two reasons: first, because they were able to withstand the trials and tribulations of the freshman state with being organized; second, although only seven in number and without any prospects of recruits near at hand they had the courage to organize as a class this year.

The result of the organization is as follows: They possibly followed the adage which says, "The best goods come in the smallest packages." They elected the smallest members of their class to the most responsible offices: Ralph R. Frey as president, and Esther H. Gish as their vice-president.

Their secretary is Margaret, not Margaret Sangster, the author and poet, but Margaret McSparran whose ideals follow closely in the footsteps of Miss Sangster as a lover of literature and social reform.

In the selection of their treasurer it is presumed that they judged that because Lester G. Brandt is a sophomore in the B. S. Finance and Commerce course he would make for them an efficient officer.

Reports have it that every member of the class was elected to some office but since we do not have the facts in the matter we are willing to believe that Mary Crouse was chosen to have charge of the "good eats" department. Because of her ability as shown in preparing meals for the college family during the past summer she will undoubtedly administer the duties of this office in a most excellent manner.

Israel Royer, of course, will serve on the social committee whenever socials are in vogue.

Since the class is so few in number, work may pull and it may be hard to "Sail on! Sail on! And on!" under all circumstances; so they may need an optimist to cheer them in their day of discouragement and despondency. They are very fortunate in having J. Norman Hutchinson to fill this position.

An explanation of the fact that there are so few in this class may here be in order. It is not because the school year of 1921-22 was a lean year in the enrollment of college students, but because many of our students finish the pedagogical course, teach a few years, and then in order to fit themselves for greater service come back and finish the A. B. Course in Education; thus during their first and second years of college work here they are classified as juniors and seniors rather than as freshmen and sophomores leaving these classes usually small. However, since Elizabethtown College now is a standardized institution more students are enrolling and a larger number of these are taking up the regular college course.

Next year this class which now is distinctive because of its few members will become distinctive by its many members.

The Senior Class of 1923 wishes for them a happy and prosperous future.

Sophomores

Our friends, in weal or woe,
Ever you've faithful been
To tasks we have assigned,
Ever your fame shall grow.

Pray follow twenty-three
Doing your very best,
In all you undertake,
Honoring dear E. C.

Then, stay, until the end,
Problems quite hard you'll meet;
Your brains are keen and sure,
Victory will attend.

Freshman Class History

One hot, sunny Tuesday last autumn, September 5, 1922, to be exact, nineteen students who later were destined to unite and form the class of 1926 of Elizabethtown College, entered the portals of their preferred Alma Mater. First, the business office was entered, where registration fees were pried from unsophisticated "freshies." Afterwards they followed from office to office the grind of red tape: office of the dean, office of the registrar, business office (again), and last (this with a sigh of relief) the office of the president. Then began a scurrying for postage stamps to write home. Afterwards room-mates were met and the "greeners" gradually became orientated.

The yearlings learned on Thursday afternoon that books are the bane of all schools. For on that day, September 7, classes commenced. From that point, joys and sorrows have shared the ascendance in first year school life. On the whole, the year at "E. C." has been a very enjoyable one, as well as a profitable one.

The organization of the Freshman Class had been a subject of much thought on the part of some of our loyal members. After probing the sentiment on this question through the ranks of the freshmen, a get-together social meeting was held by the members of the class basket-ball team in Room 304, Fairview Apartments, at which tentative plans for organization were drawn up. Pro tem officers were elected as follows: President, John Bechtel, Jr.; Secretary, Raleigh Nies. The consent of the faculty of the school being a prerequisite to class organization, a committee was appointed to interview President Meyer on the attitude of that august body. The committee returned not only with the permission of the faculty, but also with the assurance that the teachers would do everything in their power to assist in the organization. Accordingly, the first year students met on January 5, 1923, in their first meeting. At the meeting the following officers were elected:

President	-----Lester Royer
Vice-President	-----Jesse Reber
Secretary	-----Etta Davis
Treasurer	-----Margaret Wiest

As it is generally recognized that one of the vital parts of any organization is a constitution, a committee, Jesse Reber, Fances Musser, and Robert Dotterer, were appointed to see that this deficiency should be supplied. The committee drew up a constitution which was later adopted by the class. A motto, a flower, and colors were still sadly lacking, and accordingly committees were appointed as follows:

ON COLORS	ON MOTTO	ON FLOWER
Mary Strickler	John Trimmer	John Bechtel, Jr.
Frances Musser	Margaret Wiest	Mabel Bomberger

As the result of the functioning of these committees, Blue and White were selected as the class colors,—blue standing for true blue or truth, and white signifying purity. The motto selected by the class was "Aim sraight." Each member strives to live up to this excellent motto in his individual life, especially in his studies, where it is necessary to know what to do and then to do it without delay. The lily of the valley symbolizing all the virtues contained in the colors and motto was selected as the flower of the class. This spotless bloom signifies purity, truth, and in fact almost any virtue may be ascribed to it.

The class of 1926, the first class to enter Elizabethtown College, since her standardization, has in the short time it has been on the Hill, set many standards to which succeeding classes may aspire. In the first place, the class of twenty-six is not only the first freshmen class to be organized, but it is the first class group to be composed entirely of students of college rating. Another boast of the yearlings is that the class of twenty-six formulated the first class constitution in our school. It might be said, in summarizing, that the class of twenty-six is "different."

Always keeping in mind the school motto, "Educate for Service," the freshmen have added another duty to themselves, "Aim straight." Always keeping the "Blue and Gray" and its significance in mind, the beginners have added further ideals, those symbolized in the "Blue and White."

Freshman

Fresh from the fields of clover,
Fresh from the village school,
Fresh is the name that fits you
Fresh from mother's rule.

Freshies are oft considered
Filled with sweet mush and sass,
Maybe the folks have called you
Fresh and green as grass.

Never you mind their teasing
Never you mind your fate
If you work three years longer
Honors will await.

HENRY G. BUCHER

Anville, Pa.

COLLEGE PREPARATORY COURSE

Here we have our embodiment of some Lebanon County brains. He is a star in psychology and basket-ball. He is an active bass singer and took a prominent part in the Christmas Cantata. His favorite haunt on College Hill is the library on Tuesday and Thursday at one o'clock when a certain fair maid does reference reading. He spends quite an amount of his time in a Buick traveling between Anville and Lititz. One morning in Chapel when Professor J. G. Meyer said, "Some couples seem to be making progress," Bucher said earnestly to a fellow student, "Do you think he means me?"

In the educational world he will make great progress by his strong determination.

ARTHUR WITMER EHELMAN

Elizabethtown, Pa.

COLLEGE PREPARATORY COURSE

Arthur is one of our bright, illustrious day students who never shirks his tasks. After graduating from Milton Grove High School in 1919, he decided to come to Elizabethtown College to further increase his store of knowledge. He is very fond of physics and chemistry. He sports a Clubbers which often takes him to Lititz and other places of particular interest to him. We believe Arthur will come back for his A. B. degree. May the best of success be his in his chosen profession of teaching.

"POP"

ROY SWARR FORNEY

East Petersburg, Pa.

COLLEGE PREPARATORY COURSE

The greater part of the state of New Jersey knows this young man for he spent last summer in that state as a "book agent." If we may judge by the way Forney works in school we shall all agree that his part of New Jersey was "worked" last summer.

"Pop" is a favorite among the boys, and many are the tricks that are played upon him; but, suffice it to say, that he believes "it is more blessed to give than to receive." Besides his work as a student he delivers his weekly sermon from the pulpit of the East Petersburg Church.

"LAWRY" or "HARRY"

RICHARD HENRY LAWRY

Elizabethtown, Pa.

COLLEGE PREPARATORY COURSE

Here is one of those ambitious young men who always has new ideas. If he strikes a snag, he climbs right over it and goes ahead. He attended Elizabethtown High School for three years, then decided to come to Elizabethtown College for his fourth year of preparatory work. He is very industrious and takes an active part in literary society work. Mr. Lawry is also a "radio bug" and picks messages out of the air with his powerful receiving set. In music he is not found wanting as he is an active member of the Glee Club. In geometry he is very brilliant. We are confident that "Lawry" will make a success of whatever work he may choose as his vocation.

"DONNER"

EMMERT McDANNEL

Elizabethtown, Pa.

COLLEGE PREPARATORY COURSE

McDannel is a quiet, unassuming, yet a bright and an industrious day student. Obstacles quickly disappear for this young man when he sets his mind on accomplishing a thing. He is considered by his class-mates as a "shark" in Latin. One of his favorite avocations is to take bicycle rides through the country and to enjoy Nature along the way. He has a deep, rich, bass voice which he makes use of in Chorus and in the Men's Glee Club. Those who know him best recognize him to be a man of conviction and character. There is a place in the world awaiting him and the best wishes of the class accompany him as he goes to fill it.

Chorus, Glee Club.

"MAC"

CLARK McSPARRAN

Chautauqua, Pa.

PREPARATORY COMMERCIAL COURSE

"Mac" is a good-looking youth who wears a smile and greets you with a pleasant "how-do-you-do." Not only is this lad's countenance cheerful and bright, but his brilliance of intellect may well be seen when he is explaining a physics problem to the class. He shows his originality in his laugh.

He is very active in basket-ball, but swimming is his chief delight. He takes much pleasure in performing acrobatic stunts; he can stand not only upon his feet but also upon his head. He is sociable and finds attractions in many towns within a radius of thirty miles of our college town. His motto is: "Laugh and the world laughs with you." His expressions are: "What do you think this is?" or "Whoa!"

"Mac" says in a high pitched way, "I thought I'd pass away."

He is aiming to get his B. S. in Economics.

COLLEGE PREPARATORY COURSE

After completing his work in the schools of his local community, this young man was filled with an ambition to do greater things. Being encouraged by his parents, he entered Elizabethtown College and is now following the footsteps of his brothers who are successful teachers.

Amos has already proved his abilities in this profession by teaching in the schools of Lancaster County.

He has a hearty laugh and the very spirit of optimism pervades his entire soul. He is an honest, willing worker, having learned long ago to put into practice the "sweat of his brow" principle.

"EVA"

EVA M. MYER

Leola, Pa.

COLLEGE PREPARATORY COURSE

This quiet, unpretentious, pleasant student came to Elizabethtown College last fall having finished a three year high school course, and is now completing the preparatory course in commerce and finance. Judging from her application to work, her diligence and industriousness as a student she will be sure to meet with success in whatever field of activity she may choose to enter. While being a faithful and conscientious student she also finds time to take part in such out-door activities as tennis, volley-ball, croquet, skating, and snowballing in season. High ideals, sincerity, and loyalty are some of her characteristics and they have won for her the respect and friendship of the students. Perseverance is one of her chief characteristics.

"Just as brimful of mischief and fun as ever a boy could be."

Ream is the smallest of our class. He loves basket-ball and can play well for one of his size. We never realized how much of a boy Ream was until the evening the home program was given.

His favorite pastime is teasing and telling the jokes he played on his teachers. Keep in! on the famous humorous lecturers; another Cope is in the making.

"REP"

ADA FERN REPLOGLE

Martinsburg, Pa.

PREPARATORY COURSE

Good natured, teasing, fat and fair, of jolliness Rep surely has her share.

Ade came from Blair County in September 1922, to join the day student group. She is the cheerful girl who, by continual practice, leads the typing class in the speed tests. She is a willing worker and will go beyond the required amount of work. The advice she gave to the students at the Valentine social was "Laugh and grow fat." She is always ready for "Mothire" laughing.

We expect to see her climb to the position of chief clerk in a large manufacturing concern as she is always willing to try again after she has made a mistake.

"ROYER"

ANNIE REBECCA ROYER

Richland, Pa.

COMMERCIAL PREPARATORY COURSE

This brown-eyed young lady hails from a "Richland". She is noted for her kind and gentle disposition. She is completing the Preparatory Commercial Course. Annie is always ready and willing to lend a hand to those in need. We expect to see her back again at E. C. taking up college work along commercial lines. Her greatest aspiration is to be a teacher in some commercial institution. The best wishes of the class are hers.

"LOUIE"

LOUISE TRIMMER

York, Pa.

COLLEGE PREPARATORY COURSE

Louise is a bright, cheerful, sunshiny representative from York County. Her amiability and love for fun in addition to her sterling character and high ideals have won for her many friends. She can cure "blues" and make bright days brighter. In literary society and Y. W. A. she takes active part on programs and on committees and also makes use of her beautiful soprano voice as a member of the Ladies' Quartet. She is also interested in athletics and participates in basket-ball, tennis, hikes, and various other games. Last fall while playing games she revealed to us that when it comes to running she is hard to beat.

Success will crown her endeavors.

"MAN"

EMANUEL FACKLER WITHERS

Elizabethtown, Pa.

COLLEGE PREPARATORY COURSE

This ambitious young man is a native of our college town. He is completing the Preparatory Course after which he expects to attend a professional school. He is a bright, active, young man, fond of discussing important business matters. He especially delights in taking frequent trips to York. We expect to hear his name frequently in years to come as a successful professional man, to whom hundreds of people will go for treatment.

Success to you, Emanuel.

Matrimonial Prospects--Sold.

"ZIG"

AMMON KING ZIEGLER

Rehlersburg, Pa.

COLLEGE PREPARATORY COURSE

After having taught in the rural schools of Lancaster County, this sincere, honest, industrious young man returned to Elizabethtown College to complete his preparatory work and to receive further professional training as a teacher. His honesty and frankness have won for him the goodwill and friendship of his fellow students. Among his numerous athletic activities is basket-ball. He is a calm yet quick and sure player. His recent chicken thief episode gained for him a reputation as a fearless defender of the property and rights of others. He is a hard worker and we predict for him a life of successful and unselfish service.

ACADEMY STUDENT BODY

Academy

The automobile that has no motor is of little, yes, of no value, and the same is uniformly true of the college that has no Academy Department. Elizabethtown College offers two four-year courses in the Academy, the Preparatory Classical Course and the Preparatory Finance and Commercial Course. These courses are designed to prepare students to enter the classical, scientific, and finance courses outlined by the best colleges and universities in the country.

These courses are designed not only to meet college entrance requirements, but also to present the student with a course sufficiently broad to insure training in all the fundamental subjects. These courses are somewhat stronger than a standard first-grade high school course. Besides these courses, two short commercial courses, each of one year in length, are given.

Many young men and women enter school aiming to fit themselves for their life work, but are unaware or else undecided what that vocation shall be. For such persons a course at Elizabethtown College will insure a general training. This enables them to discover their capabilities and to select the proper course for their chosen vocation.

When the school year of 1922-23 opened in September, we saw a strong, vigorous, and loyal group of academy students timidly enter the shady grove of College Hill for intellectual inspiration.

Its roll bears seventy-two names, but these names are of no importance. They are the abstract names used to denote the individual which is more than a name. This group is always ready of hand, kind of heart, keen of mind, and determined of will. All have set their goal at the top of the stairs of infinite possibilities.

Education is a training calculated to make the most of one's powers, to set him on the right road to the highest development, as a thinker and a doer of that something that the world wants done.

Pluck wins! It always wins.

“Do not covet learning's prize;
Climb her heights and take it;
In ourselves our fortune lies;
Life is what we make it.”

Sewing

As a college we recognize the value of training along the domestic side of life as well as in many other phases of life.

Sewing is of great importance in future life; it is not for school but for life we are learning. Because of the need of training in the art of sewing, designing, and cutting garments, Elizabethtown College has organized a sewing department.

Mrs. Martha Oberholzer Brandt, a graduate in the pedagogical and also in the sewing course at Elizabethtown College is the one who is teaching the pupils the appreciation of this art. The class of 1923 is composed of the following members:

Good, Mae
Heisey, Leah
Hess, Phoebe
Horst, Elmira
McKonly, Rebecca
Miller, Almeda
Miller, Kathryn
Risser, Almeda
Seibert, Kathryn
Shenk, Frances
Wenger, Mary

Several hundred students have completed this course during the last ten years and many of them are now real experts in this fine art.

Any young lady who is talented in this work and has gained the knowledge necessary in order to be a good seamstress surely feels better equipped to take up her life work.

Our aim shall always be to implant into the minds of the girls the beauty and the usefulness of the art of sewing.

CHORUS

In Chorus our students who really love music have an opportunity to participate in singing publicly some of the best sacred as well as secular songs. Because Chorus is not a college requirement only those students who really love music enter the chorus class. Consciously or unconsciously they cultivate a love for music which is soul-inspiring, thought-ennobling, and heart-enriching. When the singers acquire the ability to weave their voices into beautiful strains of music, they feel a thrill of heart and soul which is peculiar to song. Music develops the feeling with which one can appreciate the beautiful in art, in literature, and nature. The same feeling makes us more sympathetic toward the right and more antagonistic toward the evil.

John Bechtel, first bass (rear); A. C. Baugher, second bass (right).

THE COLLEGE QUARTETTE

This group of singers, sometimes called the "Consecrated Quartette," was organized in 1917, and has at all times been devoted to its ideal of carrying the gospel message in song. These four men, two of whom are preachers, the third a music teacher and the fourth a student, engage in singing only as an avocation, and have by careful, persistent practice achieved remarkable results and a wide reputation. By means of distinct utterance and a simple, earnest, expressive style of singing, and by choice of only such selections as appeal to the noblest sentiments and the universal feeling of religion, the quartette does not fail to stir deeply the emotions of its audiences at every performance.

The Homeric Literary Society

The Homeric Literary Society has reached its twelfth birthday and has a present membership of more than half the total enrollment of students. The last few years have meant rapid growth and development in literary fields, "and it doth not yet appear what we shall be."

The object of the Society is "the improvement of its members in the art of composition, oratory, music, argumentation, and such other exercises as are adapted to students pursuing advanced courses of study; the attainment of a knowledge of parliamentary law; the development of the social life; and the promotion of friendship among its members."

The past year it has diligently labored to revise its constitution, by-laws and rules of order, of which products we are now proud. Professor L. D. Rose, J. D. Reber, Clarence Sollenberger, and John Sherman (a member of last year) comprised the revision committee that made a careful study of constitutions, by-laws and rules of order of literary societies connected with sister colleges in Pennsylvania. The aim of the committee was to produce a document of collegiate standards.

According to the provisions of the new by-laws, the society supports an Essay Contest open to sophomores. This is a new form of literary activity and a deep interest is manifested by those members who are eligible. Keen rivalry promises to characterize the contest and the outcome is awaited with the greatest interest.

Another innovation was an open forum debate held on Friday evening, December 15, 1922, in the College Chapel. The question selected for debate was one that has created world-wide discussion. The debaters handled the resolution, Resolved that the United States should enter the League of Nations. The main arguments on the affirmative side were given by J. D. Reber, Daniel Myers, and David Markey; C. B. Sollenberger and Mr. Reber offered the rebuttals. The negative side of this question was upheld by Israel Royer, Chester Royer, and Sheldon Madeira as the main speakers. Ralph R. Frey and Sheldon Madeira presented the rebuttals. The interest was intense. The house voted in favor of the negative.

The society is widely known through the good services rendered by the Homeric Quartette. Because of the excellent music rendered by them at the programs of the Society and at the Wednesday evening prayer meetings, and also at places within easy reach of the College, the society gave the quartette official recognition.

May the past achievements be stepping stones for higher ground.

The Penn Society

The Penn Society is one of the two academy societies that have been organized out of the original Keystone Society. It was named after William Penn, an honored Pennsylvanian who has become great through service to his fellowmen.

The Penn Society, numbering twenty-eight is not large. This is an advantage because it gives every member, sooner or later, an opportunity to hold any one of the offices connected with the society. This experience is valuable as it cultivates initiative and responsibility.

A private meeting of the society is held every Friday evening, and a public program is given every third Saturday evening.

The object of this society is to help develop its members mentally, morally, and socially.

The society is proud of the fine men and women who have gone out from its halls. Yearly it contributes a number of its members to its "big sister" society, the Homerians.

The Penns say, "If you are in need of 'pep' join the Penn Society." If it cannot be done, tell the Penns, for they work under the motto: "Labor Conquers All Things."

Many are finding their talents, and great ability is already manifest. Of this society it may be said:

"Within thyself some dormant seedling lies
Just waiting for the tillage of thy will
To aid its growth, from which, some day may rise
A harvest worthy of the reaper's skill.
Within thyself there lies some latent power
As potent as has ever come to light
But which awaits the coming of the hour,
When thou shalt set it free before men's sight."

PENN LITERARY SOCIETY

COLORS—Gold and Green.

MOTTO—Labor Conquers All Things.

The Franklin Society

The Franklin Society is a branch of the original Keystone Society. It is of equal rank with the Penn Society. This Society was named after Benjamin Franklin, a man of thought, of originality, and of skill.

The Franklin Society is in its infancy, and is yet but a twig which has however shown its bent. Although it is only in its third year of activity it has made its name, but a still greater name will the future bring forth and establish.

We might picture this society as a huge structure that is being built. The interest that the general public shows is the chief corner-stone. Another is each acting president and his cabinet of active officers. The third is its orators and debating teams and the last its musical talent. All these are joined with teamwork and trimmed with harmony and enthusiasm. Work is the key that unlocks the door and they never slam the door on opportunity.

One of the most interesting programs of the year was rendered by the Penn and Franklin Societies in a joint program portraying, by the rendition of poetry, "A Day in a Christian Home." There were two scenes. The first scene represented a morning on the veranda including a play period; in the second scene the family were seated in the living room in the evening around the family altar, listening to grandmother telling Bible and bedtime stories, after which the mother busied herself by helping the happy children to retire. The interpretation of the poems was exceptionally good and these societies can well be proud of the talent they have.

The Homeric Society must look forward to these main pillars for its future foundation stones. We prophesy that many Franklins will strive diligently and that through perseverance and persistent effort in their work they will become active Homerians.

The Young Women's Welfare Association

Among the most important organizations on College Hill is the Young Women's Welfare Association. This association was organized on February 11, 1921, under the direction of Mrs. Floy Crouthamel Hoffer as Faculty Advisor. Mrs. Hoffer appointed the following officers to serve for the remainder of the year: President, Vera Hackman; Vice-President, Margaret Oellig; Secretary, Jesse Oellig; Treasurer, Ilda Bittinger. The object of the association is to promote a general spirit of helpfulness among the girls, to develop equally the physical, mental, social, and spiritual phases of our womanhood, and to help build up a greater Christian school. This organization is open to all the lady day and boarding students who deem it a worthy cause.

From the beginning the interest in this association was good and at present all the boarding students are members, and there is a fair membership from the day students.

During the first semester of this year the meetings were held bi-weekly, but the girls, seeing the value of the meetings, decided to have them weekly during the second semester. At these meetings the girls come together and render programs either of a spiritual, a social, or a humorous nature. At some of the meetings a member of the faculty or some talented speaker from a distance is invited to address the audience. Among these were Sister Bessie Rider, a returned missionary and nurse from China. She spoke of the customs and practices of the heathen and contrasted them with us and, in some ways, us with them. Another speaker was Elder S. S. Blough whose subject was, "A Young Woman's Attitude Toward Life and Its Possibilities." He divided his talk into three parts, as follows: (1) Early duties of life; (2) Religious work; and (3) Motherhood. The object of the girls is to continue the practice of having special speakers. On January 12, the two welfare associations had a joint meeting and rendered a program in honor of Stephen Foster, an American composer of folk songs. To add a little variation to the programs a social is held occasionally. One of the most interesting of this nature was when the Y. W. W. A. entertained the Y. M. W. A. at a backward social in the gymnasium, which was artistically decorated with beautiful autumn leaves. The entertaining part of the social was that the closing address and refreshments came first and the welcome address was last. Then, too, at times, instead of having a special program, subjects of vital interest are thrown open for discussion by any of the girls in the organization.

The fact that this organization aims to contribute happiness to all within its reach is expressed in different ways; such as, giving flowers and fruit to the sick, and sending cards of sympathy to those in distress. "In as much as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

Out of this Welfare Association has grown a Student Council. The lady students are represented by two college students and one preparatory student. Through this council the students as a whole are represented and their petitions and requests are carried to the faculty. They also help to keep order on the halls and help the preceptress wherever possible.

The Young Men's Welfare Association

The high ideals and noble manhood which prevail among our gentlemen on College Hill is in a large measure due to a worthy organization termed the Young Men's Welfare Association. This association was organized on February third, nineteen hundred twenty. The purpose of this organization is to keep the young men united in one body by having regular meetings and occasional social gatherings, thus fostering a spirit of brotherliness and helpfulness; to create a proper school spirit; to suggest and support such projects which will contribute to the common good; to maintain a proper attitude toward the faculty and management of this school, and to support them in their efforts to build up the school in a Christian manner.

On Friday evening, October sixth, the Y. M. W. A. held a program in the gymnasium in honor of the Y. W. W. A. Part of the gymnasium was decorated to represent the corn field of a careless back-woods farmer. The principal feature of the program was an original dialogue portraying back-woods life in the country. The argument was for the consolidation of schools and a better life for the community.

The association has some members of the faculty speak to them; prominent men from a distance also come in and speak on subjects such as banking, ethics, and social purity. One of the speakers was Professor Schlosser who spoke on "Elements of a Successful Life." Among the many good things he said were: "The first thing you must do in order to make life a success is to believe in your work. Do not choose your vocation too soon but get a good foundation. In the second place, you should stamp your own personality upon your work; and lastly, when you have found your work, plan your work and then work your plan. If you are convinced that there is something you ought to do, do it. Do it, the work is yours. Plan how it may best be done, and keep on until the task is finished."

Dr. F. N. Maxfield, Director of the Bureau of Special Education, addressed both welfare associations. His subject was "Some Questions Young People Ask the Psychologist." Among the many things he said were: "This is an age in which young people are in a rebellion against being governed by the older people, who have had a broader experience and know what is best for them. The two main causes that stir up the thinking of the young people of this time are the women's movements and the world war."

The attention, attendance, and spirit manifested by every gentleman toward the association is admirable.

Our Bible Institute

After the semester examinations were over we laid aside our books for one week and attended the Bible Institute. We had been looking forward with great anticipation to the coming of this week.

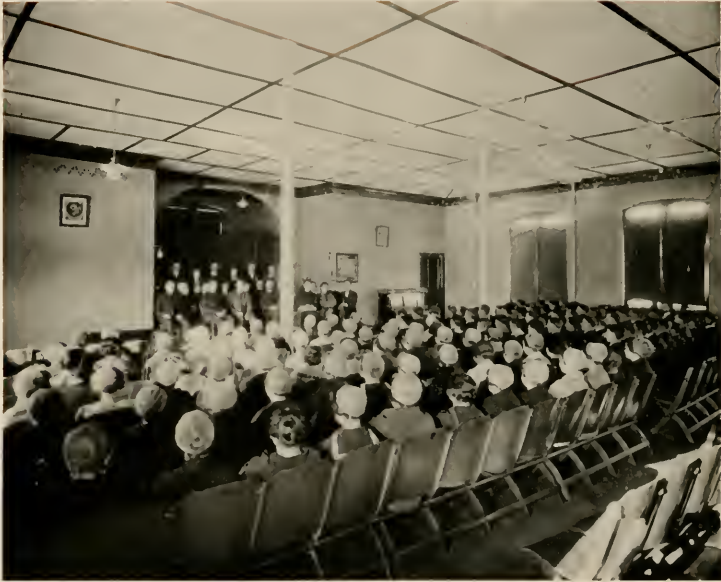

Our regular teachers during the week were A. C. Wieand, of Chicago; J. M. Pittenger, of India; and S. S. Blough, of Illinois. Each day during the regular sessions A. C. Wieand gave lectures on "Church Ordinances" and on "Epistles." J. M. Pittenger lectured on "Mission" and S. S. Blough lectured on different lines of Sunday School work and on the "Parables." Each evening before the sermon A. C. Wieand gave a lecture on some phase of the Christian life. Following these evening lectures we had sermons by pastors and elders of the various churches in the district.

On Saturday we had a special Ministerial Program. This day we heard very inspiring messages from some of our leading church workers. In the evening A. C. Wieand spoke on "Christian Education—Why, What, and How Is It." This was followed by a lecture on Christian Education by Honorable John A. McSparran.

The Missionary Program was given on Sunday afternoon. Two missionaries, Bessie Rider, from China and J. M. Pittenger, from India, told us of their work in foreign fields. The needs were put very strongly before us. James H. Moore, pastor of the Waynesboro church, gave a lecture on "A Sacrifice That Costs."

The Institute closed with a sermon on Sunday evening by James H. Moore on "The Binding of Satan."

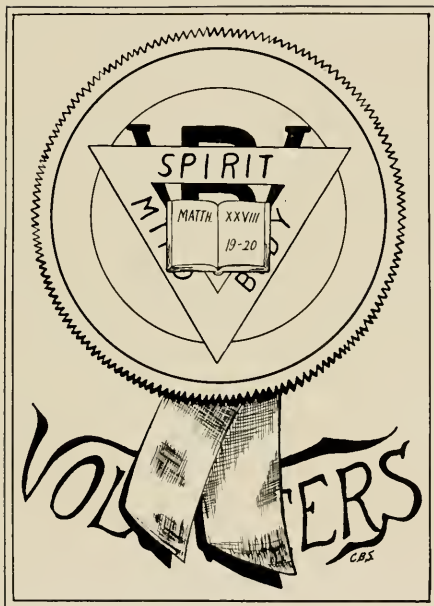

The Institute was very well attended and all of us received many inspiring messages. We find that there are many ways in which we can serve our Master.

The Volunteer Band

The Volunteer Band of Elizabethtown College is an active organization on College Hill. To this organization belong those students who have signed the declaration cards, stating that it is their purpose and desire to serve the Lord without reserve in whatever field He may see fit to call them. Some of the members are planning to do foreign work and some home work.

The band meets once a week for special devotional services and for discussion of the problems which confront the band as a whole. By students coming together and discussing problems and praying about them they naturally grow nearer to each other and to God.

The band keeps in close touch with the different churches throughout the Eastern and Southern Districts of Pennsylvania, and deputation programs are given in many of these churches.

During this school year we enjoyed several very important treats of a high spiritual nature. Early in the school year Elder C. D. Bonsack, a member of the General Mission Board, was with us. He gave us a very inspiring talk in Chapel showing us the great call for workers on the field.

During the early part of February, eight of our members attended the United Student Volunteer Convention, held at Drew Seminary, Madison, New Jersey. Attending these conventions acquaints students with missionaries from all parts of the world, and with the work and needs of all the fields. The speakers emphasized very strongly that the world is ready and waiting to receive Christ, but that we are not willing to take Him to those heathen. The responsibility rests upon us.

Brother William Beahm, Traveling Secretary of the Student Volunteers of the Church of the Brethren, was with us on February sixteenth and seventeenth. Many of the students had private conferences with him. He gave two very inspiring messages to the whole student body and one to the band privately. His message to the band was on "Volunteers' Relations to Work, to One Another, to Outsiders, to the Mission Board, to Self, and to God."

We feel that the student volunteer bands have accomplished, and are accomplishing, much for the Master. From the student volunteers have come missionaries who are now on the field and those who will go to the field in the future.

Student Ministers

Since the founding of Elizabethtown College she has ever filled a large place in the Eastern and Southern Districts of Pennsylvania in preparing ministers to fill pulpits. In practically every section of these two districts we find the present ministry has received much of their preparation and inspiration from Elizabethtown College.

This group of seven has been a silent influence around the hill in the past several years. The Senior Class now claims six of these ministers. Although the student ministers have no special organization, they have been engaged in active service. Some are filling regular appointments and others are doing Bible institute and deputation work. It is very fortunate for a young minister to prepare for life service under the instruction of a faculty which stands for training the religious as well as the intellectual side of life.

May the blessing of God be with our ministry.

In the halls of E'town College
Are the preachers, seven strong,
Faithful, quick, when duty calls them
To lead others from the wrong.

Worthy aims of life they cherish
Teaching people truth and right
Ever being to their neighbors
Men of helpfulness and might.

Our Heritage

'Twere well to ponder now and then,
Why folks are as they are,
Why this our place to study,
Why this our place to stay,
Instead of being different,
Or living far away.

What losers we, were it not true
That Christians crossed the sea
To build 'mid unknown dangers
Their homes with loving care,
Instead of just submitting
To tyrants over there.

Suppose the folks who came across
Thought naught of faith nor God,
Regarded not true knowledge,
Ner thought each bitter foe,
We'd not be free and happy
But looking glum with woe.

Be thankful for the heritage
The colonists passed on,
For liberty, religion,
For Princeton, Harvard, Yale,
For Christian leaders planning
The laws that could not fail.

What losers we, were it not true
That Christian parents tried
To foster in our natures
A love of God and man
Instead of merely teaching
To grab the most we can.

Suppose the parents in our homes
Had succored at prayer and faith;
Jehovah's right to govern
And others right to live;
We'd not be quite so happy;
Such homes false pleasures give.

Be thankful for the heritage
Our parents have passed on,
For lives of true devotion
To God's eternal Book,
For every precept taught us
In action, word or look.

What losers we, were it not true
That Christians one time dared
To build with zeal and courage
This school now winning fame;
Instead of cynics, sceptics,
Or men with selfish aim.

Suppose the teachers in the class
Feared neither God nor man
Belittled selfless service
Stood up for low ideal,
We'd not be quite so happy
Today,—how would you feel?

Be thankful for the heritage
The founders have passed on
For living faith and service,
The highest aim to hold,
For idealistic teachers
So Christ-like, staunch, and bold.

A heritage of Christian faith
Has made us what we are
What we shall be concerns us
In nation, home, and school;
The heritage to discard
Were worthy of a fool.

O, Class of Nineteen Twenty-three
And classes yet to come
This heritage acknowledge
Neglect not in your life
A heritage so worthy
To leave where sin is rife.

Allow no so-called learning
To undermine your faith
And rob the future nation
Of all that's good and true;
Pass on ideals e'en better
Than have come down to you.

As citizens we'll aim to be
Righteous above reproach,
We'll vote for fearless leaders
To sponsor worthy laws
We'll use our every effort
To further learning's cause.

As Christian parents in the home
We'll teach respect for law,
The duties to one's neighbor,
To God who's over all;
Realizing that with Christian homes
The nations cannot fall.

As sons and daughters of E. C.
We'll tender her our best
In faith, and help, and money,
We'll hold her banner high
And "Christian Education"
Shall be our battle cry.

So may the class of twenty-three
Live out our high ideals
To make this old world better
Through Christ the way that's best
Thus shall our class be fruitful,
Our lives be full of zest.

Then, when our lives are ended
Our souls passed on to God
We'll hear the Master saying:
"You've loved me early, late
Your heritage so worthy
Has e'en reached Heaven's gate."

ATHLETICS

Athletics

During the year of 1922-23 great strides have been taken in athletics. The alumni, realizing the need of more physical training, have purchased a field containing thirty acres, east of the college grounds. A part of this field is to be used for a college lake and an athletic field. This surely is great news. Let us look into the near future and see a large fully equipped gymnasium, a fine baseball diamond, a new track, and some new tennis and volley-ball courts.

Even though we do not have inter-collegiate athletics, that does not mean that we shall not have more and better athletic facilities. We believe in the development of the mental, the spiritual, and the physical side of life. Work is to begin on the new field as soon as the weather permits.

Much of the success of athletic activities this year has been due to our Physical Director, L. N. Myer, who has had a great deal of experience in this work. He is a wide-awake man, and always seems to have some surprise for the students. His training while in camp for Uncle Sam was a great help to him. During the second semester a class in physical education for prospective teachers was organized. This is the first time a class was organized to teach the principles of physical education. Physical education is being emphasized more and more in the public school curriculum.

Baseball

"Strike one—strike two—strike three—you're out," comes the voice of the umpire as the national sport of America is resumed with vigor and vim. This is a sport that is increasing in popularity over the entire world. It is also very popular on College Hill. In the fall of the school year baseball does not seem to take root very much, for the students are already thinking of hibernating. However, several games were played in the fall. The old rivalry between the commercials and literaries was resumed. Each team captured one contest, so they are even thus far. The seniors tried to wallop the juniors, but were not successful.

Our attention is called to the coming of spring when baseball will be resumed with vigor.

Since we cannot publish any of the results of outdoor activities we can only speculate. It is almost certain that three class teams will be organized. The freshmen, the juniors, and the seniors expect to put teams into the field. In the freshman ranks will be such men as Heberlig, Royer, Dotterer, Reber, Graybill, Nies, and others who will present a strong line-up. The juniors will select their nine from such men as E. Eshelman, Diltan, Brubaker, Eckroth, Grubb, Harshman, and others who have shown their mettle by beating the seniors in the fall.

The seniors will also present a very strong line-up having such men as Sollenberger, Kettering, Ream, Bucher, McSparran, Ziegler, Shisler, Young, and D. Myers to pick from. The other teams will have to hustle in order to cope with them.

The Inter-Class Basket-ball League

The Winter of nineteen hundred twenty-three marks the birth of an organized league in inter-class basket-ball. Mr. L. N. Myer, Director of Physical Education, was instrumental in getting the league into operation. In this he was strongly supported by the freshman tribe, some of whom have played "varsity ball" in the high schools from which they came. With these were other lovers of the game who were highly in favor of the prospective contests. The schedule was finally arranged among the freshmen, juniors, and seniors,—the sophomores did not enter the league,—and nine games were played, each team meeting its opponent three times.

The freshmen were the first to organize for battle and were the peacocks of the hill for several weeks. They met their opponents the seniors in two successive struggles and carried off the victory. As far as they were concerned, the series was won. The green was beginning to show signs of the coming harvest when in the course of events there was a lull. The seniors next met the juniors and carried away the honors of the day. By this time the spirit of basket-ball was all aflame and the freshmen had the score of their first game with the juniors already planned in their favor, but something spoiled the reckoning. The prospects of a bounteous harvest withered away in an awful drought. Three times they were defeated by the juniors. When their final game with the seniors came they were sure of another victory. But, alas! those seniors over whom they had battled twice before were invulnerable. Freshmen were seen standing all over the floor with mouths open in astonishment and eyes glowing with wonder, for Daniel Myers, who had been out of basket-ball all winter, on account of an operation, felt his incision to be strong enough to enter the ranks. During the progress of the league the juniors conquered the seniors on two occasions.

The result of the league leaves the class of twenty-four the winner of the series with the freshmen and seniors holding a tie score in games.

Girls' Basket-ball

The basket-ball spirit aroused not only the laddies but also the lassies who have shown their interest time and again. The fair sex also have representative teams on the floor. They were: the senior team, the junior team, the sophomore team, and the day student team.

One of the most interesting games was the junior—senior game, which resulted in a victory for the juniors, due to the work of "Eck" Trimmer who had things her own way when she received the ball. It was a fast game to say the least. Score 23-16. Another interesting game was the game between the boarding and the day students. The interest was very high during the game as the teams were supported with continual cheering. During the first half the day students had things very much their own way. At half time the boarding students called "Eck" into the game and the boarding students gained ground. However, the day students were too far ahead to be caught, and the game ended with the boarding students on the short end of an 18-20 score.

We feel sure that girls' athletics is increasing in favor and interest. May we do our part by encouraging them.

Tennis

One of the sports in which most all the students are interested is tennis. This is a sport that is excellent for physical as well as for social development. It develops the alertness of the body and the mind. It exercises all parts of the body, if one enters the game enthusiastically.

Our present courts are very much crowded and we shall appreciate the new ones very much. At this writing we are looking forward to a tennis tournament in the spring. There promises to be keen rivalry as many were branded as "sharks" during the games last fall.

A little more than twenty-five years ago, a strong need was felt among the Elders of the Church of the Brethren in Eastern Pennsylvania, for a standard, conservative school where their children could obtain a college education and still retain the distinctive features of the church. A meeting was held at Reading, Pennsylvania, at which it was decided to appoint a locating committee. This committee finally agreed that the location of this school should be at Elizabethtown and that it should be called "Elizabethtown College."

On November 13, 1900, school opened in the A. G. Heisey Building in town with six students and three teachers; meanwhile preparations were made at the chosen site for the erection of Alpha Hall, which was dedicated on March 4, 1901. From that time on the school has never ceased to look forward to greater service.

Step by step the school grew; the enrollment increased; new subjects and new courses were introduced. Up to the year 1921 the school strove with might and main to secure state recognition; now for almost three years Elizabethtown College has realized her anticipation of bigger things. Standardization immediately brought on the feeling that more buildings and better equipment were needed in order to give the best training to students in an accredited school.

The aim of the school is to serve her constituency and to perpetuate her high ideals. The school is the servant of the church and in this position and attitude she aims to function. In order to do this the school feels the need of the continuance of the staunch support which she has already received from the hands of the church.

ALUMNI

The Nature of the Alumni

Elizabethtown College has awarded four hundred and fifty-one diplomas since its first graduating class in 1903. These young people are, in a sense, the cream of the rural population of the respective communities from which they hail. They came to College Hill during the last twenty years as rough, uncouth, bashful, young men and young women. These "diamonds in the rough" have been polished and burnished by the spirit, the life, and the teachers of E. C. for several years and then turned out with a sparkling, lustrious character, a vision, a strength, a skill, a purpose, a training that has won for them a place wherever they have gone, whether to India, China, Denmark, Sweden, Africa; or to the office as stenographer or clerk in competition with the product of the best commercial schools of our land; or to "the little red school house," the pulpit, or the farm; these sturdy young men and women have never failed to make themselves felt.

We have sixteen missionaries in foreign countries—six in India, four in China, two in Denmark, two in Sweden, and two in Africa. We have some sixty ministers, over one hundred teachers, more than fifty homemakers and many farmers in our home country, who are doing better work and enjoying life more because of the fact that Elizabethtown College has helped them to interpret life.

Relation of the Alumni to Her Alma Mater

Of course the most endearing spot this old world will ever show to any one is "Home Sweet Home." It is there, that the grass is just a little greener and the sky has just a little more blue than anywhere else in the world; but second only to this comes our Alma Mater.

Our hearts become mellow and our eyes dim when we think of "the good old school days"—the familiar halls, the classrooms, the campus, the chums with whom we shared all the joys and sorrows that can be crowded into four short years, and above all, the thought of the old teachers, who have become our ideals of all that is best in life, who call up within us patience, kindness, intellectual achievement, self control, prestige, dignity, and all that goes to make life full and worth while.

What has the Alumni done for the school? In the recent four hundred thousand dollar campaign the Student-Alumni pledged itself for the sum of twenty-six thousand dollars. Again, during the past year the Student-Alumni Committee purchased thirty acres of land adjoining the school and expects to finance all the improvements on the above tract.

Of such an Alumni Elizabethtown College is justly proud. The success of any school is assured if such a spirit as this is found in its alumni, and in addition the ability financially to carry out her plans.

What the Alumni Can Do in the Future

We have said repeatedly that the most valuable asset any school can have is a successful alumni in their various fields of activity. We may spend much money to advertise the school, we may send our catalogue far and wide, we may even send men out to solicit for students, but the most efficient management cannot cover the field as thoroughly as do the graduates of the school. The school management may cover the field efficiently, but the students that are in the respective communities cover it thoroughly.

In every community there are those who do not believe in higher education, nor in anything that smatters after a college, but even these will listen to the harmony resulting from your beautiful and useful life—the resultant of your school life. It is here that you can mould sentiment.

We also need many local alumni organizations. We have far too few of these. Our teachers should bear this in mind and hold meetings at the time of County Teachers' Institutes, Sunday School Conventions, Ministerial Meetings, Fourth of July Meetings, or whenever opportunity presents itself "in season and out of season." We should show an interest in our college.

Finally, we should make it a habit to attend the exercises at the college on Commencement Week. This should be a home-coming week, and especially on Alumni Day. Will we do it and then build up a school that shall be known far and wide for the peculiarly interested Alumni it builds?

Oh, everything."

He (a freshman): "It is."

First: "This school sure takes an interest in a fellow, doesn't it?"

Other: "Why, how is that?"

First: "Oh, I read in a school paper that they will be glad to hear of the death of any of their alumni."

Mary Baugher (in drawing class): "Oh, just look at the chicken I drew—its feet are cross-eyed."

One of our lady teachers, in trying to direct some one to sentiments on love, said she never knew that the Songs of Solomon contained so many verses on love. "Why," she said, "I started reading there the other evening and it was so interesting I could hardly stop."

M—— heard a conundrum and decided to tell it to his wife, so he said, "Do you know why I am like a mule?"

"No," she replied promptly, "I know you are, but I don't know why you are."

WHAT DO SIGNATURES SIGNIFY?

Handwriting experts claim to read a man's character from the hand he writes. However that may be, it is true the signature on a check denotes the fact that the owner believes in sound business principles, in the establishing of personal credit and in paying his bills in the most convenient and safest way.

L. N. Myer called for his bill the other evening.

"Let me see," said the waiter. "What have you had, sir?"

"Three fish—" commenced L. N.

Three, sir?" questioned the waiter. "I only brought you two, I think."

"No," replied Myer with a sad smile. "You brought me two mackrel and one smelt."

The man who did not talk about his neighbors—Robinson Crusoe.

Shisler: "Look, there goes Jesse Becktel, the bookkeeper!"

Royer: "Bookkeeper? Why, Jesse's still at school."

Shisler: "Yes, I know, but he borrowed one of my books three years ago and he still has it."

Prof. Harley is very absentminded. The other day he walked into a store to buy a jar. He saw one that was turned upside down and cried: "How absurd! That jar has no mouth!" Turning it over, he was once more astonished. "Why, the bottom's gone, too," he exclaimed.

"Jake" Trimmer wanted to give her a ring with an appropriate inscription upon it. Being at a loss what to have engraved upon it, he asked his father's advice. "Well," said father, "put, 'When this you see, remember me.'" A few days later the young lady was astonished to receive a ring with this inscription: "When this you see, remember father."

A revenue officer was in this district hunting for illicit whiskey the other day. Coming up to a young man, he said, "I'll give you ten dollars if you'll show me a private still."

"Ten dollars, sure," said the man.

He led the officer over fields and through brambles to an encampment of soldiers. He pointed out one of them.

"See that red-headed man. That's a friend of mine. He's been in the service for twelve years. He'll be a corporal atter while, but he's a private still."

"Pop," said Bucher one morning, after having fallen out of bed, "I think I know why I fell out of bed last night. It was because I slept too near where I got in."

Musing a little while, as if in doubt whether he had given the right explanation, he added, "No, that wasn't the reason; it was because I slept too near where I fell out."

"I tell you," snorted the old lady who had just arrived at the hotel from the country, getting quite angry, "I won't have this room. I ain't going to pay any money for a pig-sty; and as for sleeping in one of them beds, I simply won't do it."

"Get on in, mum," said Fike, the elevator boy. "This ain't your room; it's the elevator."

Seldomridge recently visited Philadelphia. On his way homeward, he found he had lost his pocketbook, containing fifty dollars. He telegraphed to the station at Philadelphia, stating his loss, and requested that it be kept for him until his next trip there, about a month later. In due time he returned to Philadelphia and the pocketbook was handed him. The finder stood by expectantly while Seldomridge counted the money in the pocketbook. Seldomridge gazed long and inquiringly at the clerk at the desk. "What's the trouble?" asked the latter anxiously. "Isn't it right?" "Oh, it's right enough, but where's the month's interest?"

CLASS OF 1924

This half page has been given to the Junior Class by the Senior Class as a token of their appreciation for their efforts in selling the "Etonian".

It happened this way. At a Junior Class Meeting the Chairman announced a fourteen day contest given by the Senior Class to see which class could sell the greatest number of Etonians. After some consideration the class decided to enter the contest, not from the motive of getting the prize, but to aid the Senior Class. The Junior Class chose "Deeds not Words," as their motto. This motto is very practical and since we have won the contest it shows that we have already put it to use.

We, the Junior Class, hope you will like the 1923 Etonian. It represents countless hours of work by the Senior Class. There is no better way of becoming acquainted with our school than by reading the Etonian. We expect to publish the Etonian next year; in fact we have already elected the main editors who will be busy during the summer to make our Etonian the best. Place your order early for the Etonian of 1924 and keep in touch with the work at Elizabethtown College.
